

PRINCIPAL CALL COMMITTEE UPDATE

By Paul Smith

The Principal Call Committee is on hold waiting for the anticipated visit from our first candidate. The first candidate to visit is going to be Ben Elliot, whose father lost a long battle with cancer, so his visit was postponed to the weekend of the 20 & 21st of March. The candidate will spend a whole day at our School on Friday getting a close look how we operate, and also presenting chapel to our pre-school and school children. We are planning for the candidates to have time to meet with parents, staff, congregation, and church leaders. Prior to making its decision, the Committee will meet with staff and parents to get their input. The Committee and the candidate is excited with the upcoming opportunity to get to know each other better. Please pray for our Lord's guidance through this process. There will be a meet and greet reception following the services on Sunday, March 21 for Ben and his wife. Another potential candidate, Laurie Hofman and her husband were scheduled to come March 12-14, but on the afternoon of Feb. 28, we received a call from Laurie indicating that she feels that this is not the right time for her to make this move.
